Rationing Program for Manpower of U. S. Launched Today

War Industries Given First Call on Labor; Job Shifts Barred

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the War Manpower Commission told the senate military affairs committee today, members said, that the civilian economy would be taxed to the utmost to maintain armed forces totaling 11,213,040 estimated for the end of the year.

Only today, the manpower commission launched a program for rationing of manpower to give war industries first call on the labor supply and to clamp restraints on job-switching by war workers.

It ordered the program into operation as soon as practicable in 32 areas of "critical labor shortage". The plan is designed to tie millions to tasks deemed essential unless their employers or WMC agents approve their transfer to other work.

Chairman Reynolds (D.-N.C.) said McNutt told the senate committee the armed forces would take 4,014,327 men and 214,579 women this year.

15,000,000 Impossible

The senator indicated that the projected armed force was about the maximum McNutt felt could be maintained and added that a force of 15,000,000 was impossible under lend-lease commitments.

The WMC will take control over all but small-scale hiring in the 32 shortage areas—and perhaps in nearly three as many areas where shortages are threatened—furnishing workers to employers under a priority system based on the employers' importance to the war.

WMC Chairman Paul V. McNutt said the program would be carried out as a series of community operations, set up by WMC area directors working with management-labor committees, with broad national regulations adjusted to local conditions.

The WMC stressed that the project would be operated as a mutual and cooperative undertaking by government, management and labor to meet the mounting manpower problem.

Guarantees Provided

The order provides guarantees that, "in so far as it will not interfere with the effective prosecution of the war".

1. "No worker shall be obliged to accept or continue in employment which is not suitable."

2. "No employer shall be obliged to retain x x x a worker who is incompetent x x x or who fails to conform to reasonable shop rules or standards of conduct."

McNutt's order directed that except where agriculture is represented on the area management-labor committee, control over hiring of farm workers should be exercised only to curb transfers to non-agricultural work.

On the other hand, it declared that persons "engaged or most recently engaged in essential activities" could be employed only for work in another essential activity.

The U. S. Employment Service, a WMC unit, is to be the main hiring agency, but the order directed "maximum utilization of all existing hiring channels" which would work under WMC rules.

Directions to Agencies

Specified as such channels were private employers, labor and professional organizations, schools, technical institutions, and government agencies.

The employment agencies were

The Chinese new year begins today and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government, in a graceful gesture toward its allies, is dedicating the festival to a celebration of the new treaties by which the United States and Britain last month abandoned extraterritorial rights for their nationals in China.

This provokes some interesting speculation as to Chungking's motives in linking a political demonstration with an ancient popular festival. It may have been to make sure that a true holiday spirit would prevail during the official celebration. It may have been a subtle Chinese way, at this season of new hope, of reminding the allies that as far as aid from them goes the Chinese army still is supported mainly by hopes and promises.

But one purpose certainly was to emphasize to the Chinese public the value the government places on its ties with the Anglo-Saxon powers, despite widespread disappointment over the benefits to China thus far by her adherence to the United Nations. It probably was intended to offset increasing expressions of this disappointment, some of it coming from high places, it should be noted, not from the steadfast, gifted man who leads Free China.

The Chinese armies, supported now by a small measure of American air power, continue to hold their own against the invader. Two Japanese attempts this winter to drive into Yunnan, China's southwestern bastion, have made no real progress and the line of the great rivers near the Burma border still holds. The Japanese have carried out a series of "mopping up" operations in the Yangtze valley and along the Peiping-Hankow railway but these seem pointless. No sooner do the moppers-up return to their fortifications.

Long Enough

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Adrian A. Walker obtained a divorce yesterday on complaint that his wife nagged him.

"Was there trouble over nagging?" his attorney asked him.

"Yes," said Walker, who is 78—and who's been married 56 years. "We've had troubles for 40 years."

Superior Judge Roger J. Meakim said that was long enough.

"Bundles for Congress" Now Has "Chairs for Horan" Association

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The bundles for Congress organization today sported a new unit—"The Chairs for Horan Section."

Embarrassed by recent pictures of Representative Horan (R-Wash.) and his family reduced to using packing boxes for chairs when manpower troubles delayed their furniture delivery, the Spokane Athletic Round Table, originator of Bundles for Congress, today sent the congressman a money order for $100 to buy chairs.

The telegram accompanying the money order said:

"Our sympathy aroused over Congressman Horan's plight at lack of furniture and pictures of his family sitting on apple boxes embarrassing our wealthy district. Contrasting world's largest dam (Grand Coulee) and Horan family's lack of furniture appalling.

Ruml Plan Backers on Defensive; Hunt for Reinforcements

Majority of Committee in House Hostile to Full "Forgiveness"

Washington, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Vigorously opposing the Ruml plan, Representative Crawford (R-Mich.) told the house ways and means committee today advocacy of cancelling 1942 personal income tax obligations, as a means of attaining pay-as-you-go, was "almost economic blasphemy."

Committee members supporting the Ruml plan conceded they were on the defensive, though it appeared that virtually all of the 25 representatives on the committee believed that some part of the taxes due March 15 would be cancelled or deferred. Taxpayers liable for income taxes under current law must file returns by March 15.

The Michigan representative himself proposed collection of taxes on last year's income by spreading the tax debt over a period of years, while the taxpayers at the same time paid on their

Submerged Plane's Equipment Is Saved

Somewhere in New Guinea, Feb. 4.—(Delayed)—(AP)—When their bomber crashed into the ocean a mile off the New Guinea coast recently, the crew calmly escaped and the pilot and co-pilot spent the entire day diving into the submerged craft to recover equipment worth thousands of dollars.

The divers who dared the shark-infested water were Lieutenants Willmor Pavlich of Point Jervis, N. Y., the pilot, and Forest Mowry of Woonsocket, R. I., co-pilot.

Others in the plane included Lieut. Jack Thomas of Warsaw, Ind.

"We ran out of gasoline and had to crash-land a mile off shore," Pavlich said.

"Fortunately, we got out without injury. Before the plane sank, we managed to get out the life rafts and some guns. Natives came out in boats and we went ashore with them. Mowry and I got the natives to take us back to the crash scene where we saw the plane on a reef under 14 feet of water."

"From 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. we kept diving for stuff and filled two of the natives' boats before quitting."

Please have dealer send as many chairs as $100 will bring to his Chevy Chase home. Put sign on truck so it won't be lost."

Congressman Horan's reply to Joe Albi, president of the Spokane club and addressed by Horan to Chairman of the Chairs for Horan Section, Bundles for Congress, follows:

"Your seat-warming message and check received. It is with real regret that I return the money. I have reached the conclusion that in this time of patriotic consciousness there is nothing better or finer than that my whole family should stand up and be glad for the United States of America."

Meanwhile the Horan family sits on seven folding chairs, donated by Montgomery county (Maryland) commissioner following the story about the chairless plight.

American Raiders Smash Heavily at African Airdromes

Shoot Down 26 Nazi Planes, Damage 26 More, Lose Ten

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Feb. 5.—(AP)—American aerial raiders smashed heavily at German airdromes and auxiliary fields in the Gabes area yesterday and, in this and other fighting, shot down 26 German planes and damaged 26 more while losing 10 of their own, a spokesman announced today.

While the air war reached a white heat, United States armored forces withdrew from the Sened railway station in central Tunisia, 65 miles northwest of Gabes, after "accomplishing the purpose of their mission," the spokesman said.

(The Italian high command declared today that more than 1,000 allied soldiers were captured in recent Tunisian fighting and said several light armored cars were seized by axis forces during local engagements yesterday.)

(Italian and German fighters were declared to have shot down 15 allied planes.)

British troops in the Bou Arada sector to the north maintained control of the heights of Djebel Mansour which they captured the previous day and beat off Nazi attacks.

Twenty-five of the axis planes destroyed yesterday were downed in action directly related to the Gabes raids and the other was caught in one of the aerial sweeps across the front.

10 Allied Planes Lost

Duplicating their successes in European and Pacific theaters, two formations of B-17 Flying Fortresses shot down 24 Nazi fighters in running engagements continuing for 50 miles. One B-17 and four fighters failed to return.

Five allied fighters were lost in other forays over axis territory.

Raining high explosives on the targets at Gabes airdrome and dispersal fields, the American heavy bombers started six or seven fires. The auxiliary landing grounds five miles west of the axis supply port were wreathed in smoke as the Fortresses turned homeward under attack.

There was little action on the drawn-out front lines in Tunisia, with the Germans apparently not ready to attempt to widen the corridor by which Marshal Rommel is expected to try to withdraw to the Tunis-Bizerte area.

See Lull Before Storm

This corridor, averaging about 70 miles in width from Bizerte to the Mareth line, offers the allies a number of chances to choke off the axis with a sudden attack toward the sea.

Although there has been little news from the British Eighth Army during the past few days, observers regarded the seeming lack of activity on the part of General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's troops as merely the lull before the storm.

Recalling similar lulls which preceded the smashing British assaults at El Alamein and El Agheila, these quarters assumed that Montgomery has been busy building up his forces for an all-out lightning assault.

When he does strike—and it may be soon—the character of the terrain facing his army is such that it may roll forward with considerable speed until it strikes the Mareth line, some 65 miles inside Tunisia.

There Montgomery will have the alternatives of trying to blast his way westward along the coastal road, where the plain bordering the sea funnels down to a width of about 20 miles, or skirting inland around readily defensible mountain ridges which rise in some places to a height of more than 3,200 feet.

While it is impossible to predict Montgomery's strategy, sources in London said there seems every reason to believe

RAF Bombs Italy, Lorient and Ruhr Simultaneously

London, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The RAF bombed Turin and the Spezia naval base in northern Italy last night and simultaneously attacked the Ruhr and the German submarine base at Lorient in France, it was announced today.

Only three bombers were reported lost in the raids, which constituted one of the most sweeping single night's operations the RAF ever has attempted.

The Italian high command said several waves of planes raided both the town and surroundings of Turin, several buildings were hit and "the number of victims is not yet ascertained". The high command communique, broadcast from Rome, indicated the attack upon Spezia was lighter. It said bombs caused only slight damage there.

It was the first time that home-based British bombers had taken the long trail across the Alps to attack northern Italy since Dec. 11, when a heavy raid on Turin wound up a two-month offensive against Premier Mussolini's war industries there and at Genoa and Milan.

Excellent weather was encountered last night over Turin and the city, center of the Italian automobile industry, was heavily bombed, the announcement said.

The raid upon Spezia was the first of the war for that fortified city, the site of artillery works and establishments for the production of electrical supplies and marine weapons.

Planes Off Again Today

Good weather also was encountered over Lorient, the British reported, and the bombing there was heavy and concentrated. The port is an important base for Hitler's submarines operating in the Atlantic.

Specific objectives attacked in the Ruhr were not immediately disclosed.

RAF traffic started across the channel again in mid-afternoon, with big bombing formations heading for northern France under escort of Spitfire squadrons. Last night's attack was the RAF's third successive night foray over Europe and followed a day during which U. S. Army bombers struck at northwest Germany in the second all-American daylight assault on the Reich.

Large formations of Flying Fortresses participated in the daylight assault on Germany yesterday, unloading tons of explosives on the enemy.

Swarms of German fighters pounced on the American air raiders and furious battles developed. Five of the American planes failed to return but a number of enemy craft were reported downed.

Tojo Is Just "Moon Receiving Light From Sun", He Tells Diet

(By The Associated Press)

Premier General Hideki Tojo took occasion today to deny that he is Japan's dictator, declaring that he is merely "the moon receiving light from the sun"—the emperor—according to a Tokyo dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press.

He added, however, that in wartime "dictatorial measures" must be taken to increase war production and win the war.

The broadcast said Tojo spoke in reply to a question in parliament. The question was not stated, but the reply indicated that Tojo was defending himself against charges of trying to draw too much power into his own hands.

Davies Says Hitler May Be Dead; 'Sheer Nonsense' Says Briton

New York, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Soviet Russia, said in a radio broadcast last night that days of mourning and grief in Germany suggest the possibility that Hitler is dead.

A foreign office spokesman in London, however, expressed an opinion today suggesting that Hitler was dead was "sheer nonsense."

"These days of mourning and grief in Germany supposedly because of the Stalingrad defeat and the fact that Hitler did not make his 10th anniversary speech last week suggests the possibility that Hitler is dead," Davies said, speaking from Washington.

"But suppose Hitler is dead," he continued. "The Nazi party with its industrial fascists and military leaders is still alive."

Big Japanese Sea-Borne Force Nears Guadalcanal Island

Official Secrecy Continues to Hide All Developments

(By The Associated Press)

First word of a large Japanese sea-borne force bearing down on Guadalcanal island came in delayed dispatches from the South Seas battlefield today as official secrecy continued to shroud developments in an expected showdown battle between American and Japanese fleets.

In Washington, the Navy reported "recurrent engagements" by opposing naval and air forces in the Solomon islands theater, but declared that Tokyo radio reports of a big naval fight already in progress were false.

Censor-passed dispatches from Guadalcanal dated Feb. 1 declared:

"Aerial observers reported tonight that a large force of Japanese warships headed for Guadalcanal. Some observers think the Japs hope to bolster their tottering Guadalcanal ground forces with reinforcements."

The dispatch quoted Flight Leader Major Nance Whitaker, of Toxana, Ky., as saying he observed between 30 and 40 Japanese ships, many of them warships, in Shortland harbor 150 miles north of Guadalcanal.

A Tokyo broadcast had previously asserted, without confirmation, that Japanese forces attacked American warships off Rennell island 100 miles south of Guadalcanal on Feb. 1, the date of the Guadalcanal dispatch.

There was no immediate indication, either from Washington or Guadalcanal itself, that the Japanese had been able to land reinforcements on the island, although latest advices said American planes strafed enemy barges off Guadalcanal on Tuesday.

Yankees Press Forward

The Navy said, however, that U. S. troops still were pressing forward against Japanese positions on the island, killing 39 enemy troops and driving the invaders from position west of the

Five Volunteers Kill Utah Convict

Salt Lake City, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Five volunteer riflemen, paid $25 each, shot to death Walter Robert Avery, saw-toothed killer of a policeman, in the Utah prison yard today.

The shots were fired at 9:23 a. m. (CWT) and two minutes later Dr. Rich Johnson pronounced Avery dead.

All persons condemned to death in Utah must choose between the firing squad and the hangman—and Avery, 34-year-old former Marine, picked the rifleman.

Although five rifles rattled at Sheriff John R. Watson's signal, only four spat death-dealing slugs. One of the .30-30 caliber weapons loaded secretly by the sheriff contained a blank cartridge, but none of the executioners knew which drew this weapon.

The riflemen stood in a cell, each adjoining the yard with a canvas hanging over the door, their guns thrust through eight-inch slits.

From a range of 22 feet they fired bullets into a target pinned over the heart of the condemned slayer who as a Marine had exchanged shots with Nicaraguan revolutionaries without getting a scratch.

The death sentence was imposed on Avery for the slaying of Detective Hoyt L. Gates in a gun battle during a chain store grocery holdup at Ogden Feb. 11, 1941.

Thousands of Men Seeking War Work Following Warning

(By The Associated Press)

With New York City apparently setting the pace to such an extent that the selective service director there advised against precipitate action, hundreds of thousands of men are seeking war work as a result of the warning that even though they have dependents, those who are in non-essential occupations face immediate induction after April 1.

A survey by The Associated Press showed that in nearly all parts of the country local offices of the United States Employment Service have been flooded with applications for jobs or for information about the status of the men in certain jobs.

New York City, U. S. employment offices reported they had 29,802 applicants for war jobs Wednesday and 13,493 Thursday, compared with normal daily total of 8,000 applications.

Col. Arthur V. Mc Dermott, the New York selective service director, counseled against hasty action and Harry Hansbrough, WMC director in Louisville, cautioned that applicants should definitely find out the class of work they were in before "seeking to make wild changes."

The Chicago employment office reported a 35 per cent increase in applications.

Many applicants inquired whether they would have to leave their home cities in order to take war jobs. WMC officials said they were being told they would not have to move at present.

Collapse of Force in Caucasus Near, Observers Believe

"Dunkergue Escape" Is Apparently Only Way Open to Germans

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The collapse of Adolf Hitler's Caucasian forces apparently neared its final phase today.

Dispatches said Red armies of the south, slashing a branch rail line by which perhaps 200,000 Germans might have fled northward from the Krasnodar area, swept on toward all objectives in steam-roller fashion, and others imminently threatened the cities of Rostov, Kursk and Kharkov.

In the Caucasus the Soviets cut off escape from Krasnodar over one of three remaining rail exits by capturing Stominskaya and Kanevskaya. They lie north of Krasnodar on a branch line which

Congratulations

In a message last night to the Soviet commander, Roosevelt said:

links the Rostov-Kaku trunk and the Azov sea port of Yeysk.

From Kanevskaya they were reported aiming southward at Timashevskaya, only 36 miles above Krasnodar, and a junction from which another railway branches southwestward toward the Black sea and a connection with the only other railroad remaining in the hands of the invaders of the Caucasus, the Krasnodar-Novorossisk line.

Gen. I. V. Tulenev's command executed these thrusts which split Germany's Caucasian armies. Maintenance of the Russian pressure would force the southern group to attempt at "Dunkergue escape" at Novorossisk or maneuver, without benefit of rail facilities, across Kerch Strait to the Crimea.

Germans Desperate

Northward the Germans were reported desperately rushing squadrons of tanks and divisions of infantry reserves into battles raging west and south of Krasny-Liman.

In breaking through to Krasny-Liman the Red army pushed deep into the rich Ukraine to develop a potential flanking movement against the important German strongholds of Kharkov and Voroshilovgrad. Soviet forces were well to the west of the latter city.

The remainder of nine German and Hungarian divisions surrounded west of Voronezh appeared to be facing the fate of the Nazi force that was encircled and annihilated at Stalingrad. The newspaper Pravda reported the trapped forces were fighting in scattered garrisons, with no communication with one another. The dead already were reported to total 17,000, with 27,000 captured.

Directly east and north of Rostov the Nazis were reported counter-attacking with abundant tanks and motorized forces as they made a supreme effort to hold the key city where the Don empties into the Sea of Azov and thus retain a land route of escape for their hard-pressed troops in the Caucasus.

Krasnodar In Peril

The Germans now hold only the northern edge of the Caucasus, on a line running up the Black sea and the Sea of Azov coast from Novorossisk to Rostov, with their deepest point inland at Karsnodar. Krasnodar is reported threatened on three sides and in imminent peril.

(The German high command communique broadcast by the Berlin radio reported that powerful Soviet forces had attempted to make landings at Novorossisk, but had been frustrated. The landing forces were encircled, the Germans said, and faced destruction. Nineteen landing craft were sunk, Berlin said.)

One strongly-fortified defense line southeast of Rostov already has been shattered the Soviet mid-night war bulletin announced. (This apparently was about 30 miles southeast of Rostov.)

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Jesus Taught Allegiance to Himself Only as a Minister of Word of God

Text: John 8:12, 25-36, 56-59

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Editor of Advance

The Gospel of John, as I have indicated in former comment on the lessons, consists on the evidence of various witnesses and incidents concerning the divine character and mission of Jesus.

A part of this evidence is the witness of Jesus concerning Himself, and it is the most important part, for its complications are imperative. When Jesus says, "I am the light of the world or He is making claims for Himself that are extravagant and meaningless. If we found any man making such claims for himself today, we should immediately inquire into the nature of his teaching and his character. If these did not accord with honesty, grandeur and beauty, we should immediately conclude that the man making such claims was either a deliberate impostor or a self-deluded creature.

As a matter of fact, we are not conscious of any purpose on the part of Jesus to magnify Himself or to assume any earthly grandeur. We call Him "the meek and lowly Jesus," and in truth He was. He spoke of Himself as among men and as one who served. He had come, He said, not to be ministered unto, but to minister and to give His life a ransom for many.

This lesson must be read in the light of all the sayings of Jesus concerning Himself, and in the light of all that He revealed of His humility and His purpose to serve and save. When He speaks of Himself of the light of the world, and says that they who follow Him shall not walk in darkness but shall have the light of life. He is speaking confidently because of the spiritual truth that He knows He has to reveal and because of His consciousness that above all things He is in this world to do the Father's will.

He never sought or claimed the allegiance of men to Himself as an individual, but only as that allegiance meant complete surrender to God, the Father, and to His will. He taught the disciples to pray not to Him but to the Father in heaven and the heart of that prayer was that they might know and do the Father's will and that His will might be done in earth as it was done in heaven. We realize the mystical sense in which Jesus spoke of His eternal nature in His reference to Abraham and to His pre-existence. This is in entire harmony with the mystical words concerning the Word with which the Gospel of John begins: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God."

It would be amazing if the very brief span of the earthly ministry of Jesus represented the fullness of that life. Inevitably we think of Him and all that He represented in His life and teaching as existing from the beginning and as continuing forever. He is Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today and forever. But the glory of the light that He shed upon the world is that He brought the divine into the human, the eternal into time, and the unchanging and abiding life and truth of God into man's ever-changing life and world.

A Thought for Today

And it shall come to pass in the day that the Lord shall give thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy fear, and from the hard bondage wherein thou wast made to serve.—Isaiah 14:3.

Calm on the bosom of thy God,
Fair spirit! rest thee now!—Hemans.

Flynn Fiasco

What happened to Edward J. Flynn, aspirant for the Australian diplomatic post, is one of the healthiest signs of the current times. The episode has unfortunate undertones, of course. Many regard the president's nomination of Mr. Flynn as a sad error, while others feel that the senate's attitude was unfortunate.

It is not necessary now to rehash the arguments, pro and con, whether Mr. Flynn should have been confirmed. We should all be able to agree that, in the midst of total war, it is encouraging to have watched the democratic process work itself out exactly as it is used to in days of peace.

To those who were worrying lest war restrictions were bringing us under a dictatorship, there now is an unanswerable rebuttal. The Flynn incident proved that this still is a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

For reasons which are not pertinent to this line of thought, the president wanted to send Mr. Flynn to Australia as minister and to the Southwest Pacific as personal roving ambassador.

If we had drifted under the quasi-dictatorship that some have professed to believe, Mr. Flynn would have gone on that mission regardless of how much popular disapproval his appointment created.

But, this being a democracy, those who considered Mr. Flynn unfit for so important a post did not hesitate to shriek to high heaven, to oppose the president's choice, to present their arguments. They were able to persuade enough Democratic senators to assure defeat of Mr. Flynn.

Returning from his North African trip to learn of the situation, the president accepted the will of the majority and withdrew the nomination.

This outstanding aspect of the incident is surrounded by many almost equally intriguing side issues.

One, of utmost importance, is the revitalization of congress which was indicated. The Republicans, unfortunately but naturally, are in the apparent position of having taken a partisan stand against the former Democratic national chairman—though who shall say whether many or most were not actuated by sincere convictions?

In any given instance—in the Flynn case, for example—some will applaud and some will lament the result. In a democracy none should condemn the insistence of the people's representatives, regardless of party lines, upon exercising the powers vested in them by the Constitution.

Axis propagandists have been proven wrong. Democracy can live and function lustily in the midst of total war.

Price Chiseling

A fact-finding commission in New York has confirmed what every housewife in the country has long known—that the price ceiling system is not working so far as meats are concerned.

There is no way, apparently, that the shortages in this field can be eliminated. But serious flaws in distribution could be controlled by rationing, and price chiseling could be minimized if a real study of the situation were made and its lessons were applied.

News Behind THE NEWS

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington — Widening cracks in Nazi morale have inspired no expectations within President Roosevelt's high cabinet that Germany will blow up fast as she did last time.

Roosevelt himself was realistic and serious about the dangers of the attacks ahead, in his private talk with the congressional leaders. He was especially apprehensive about the current German submarine campaign, the severity of which no outsider can gauge because official figures of current losses are not announced.

While naval authorities are constantly telling congress the menace is grave, one Army general has testified sinkings are still running less than new ship construction and, therefore, cannot be considered in any way a disastrous threat to our cause. Russian authorities also say their lend-lease shipments are getting through well.

But Roosevelt's disinclination to place hopes in the accumulating proofs of Nazi weakness reflects, in general, the inside attitude of Army, Navy and government. The state department has even professed alarm at the wide popular feeling of optimism, contending it is not justified.

The official position is that while we are numerically superior in Africa, Hitler is entrenched so firmly on the continent we will have to go in and drag him out like a crazed lion from a den. Also, they contend the Germans have held the Russians long enough to establish a defensive line west of Rostov and Kharkov and thus save themselves from a rout.

True, they say, the Germans are notorious front runners accustomed to victories. They broke last time within 90 days after the peak of their effort. It was August 11, 1918 when Pershing took formal command of American fighters, and October 6 when the Germans first asked terms of an armistice.

The authorities here, however, overwhelmingly doubt that such history will be repeated in view of the more stringent controls Hitler now exercises over the people. They do not seem to expect the end in April, as some British do, or even necessarily this year.

It must also be reported, however, that officialdom looks upon optimism itself with misgivings. Apparently, there is some fear that the people might exaggerate any optimistic hopes and relax their efforts, although, logically, you would expect the Army of a fully mobilized nation, gathering for the kill, to redouble its efforts at the scent of final success. Certainly a people on the verge of victory should work doubly hard.

The news from Helsinki and Ankara shows the Finns and Turks scent it. Although Finland is Germany's ally, President Rytty has let the news out through the Finnish parliament "the war is approaching a culmination point," (climax) and he expressed hopes the allies will understand Finland's position.

He is in a position to know, as are the Turks, who have excellent open avenues of information into the Caucasus and the Balkans. Through Turkey have come reports that Hungary and Rumania are asking return of some of their soldiers for economic reasons. Hitler's allies seem to be falling away.

Atop all this, convincing proof is available here that German production has been on the decline the past several months. Indeed, this is almost officially confirmed by the new Berlin announcement of a draft for every German from the cradle to the grave.

Hitler's inexcusable ducking of his tenth anniversary celebration and the defensive, fear-spreading proof that the decline of official Nazi morale—first evident on the Russian front—is progressing rapidly.

As far as the Pacific is concerned, Navy Secretary Knox has rather indicated to congress that our position is secure. His testimony indicates we have enough air strength on hand to meet any challenge of our position from the Japanese.

While the Japs are still tough fighters, it is evident they have not been able to take advantage of many of their best opportunities lately.

The situation on that front, however, has not encouraged a single optimist in Washington who can do anything more than pray for an early conclusion.

(Telegraph Special Service)
Polo, Feb. 5—The funeral of Mrs. Frank Poole, 74, resident of the Donaldson community near Polo, who passed away at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital in Dixon at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning, following an illness of but a few days duration, will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Brick church, west of Polo. The Rev. Martin Kabele, pastor of the Polo Lutheran church, assisted by the Rev. Fred Meyer, pastor of the Brick church, will officiate and burial will be in the church cemetery. Friends may call at the church from 1 p. m. until time for the services.

Anna Geary was born Sept. 26, 1868 in East Greenville, Pa., the daughter of George and Camilla Geary. When she was three weeks old, she came with her parents to live at the Donaldson settlement. She was married to Frank Poole Dec. 6, 1890 and with the exception of four years, three of which were spent in Polo and one in Montana, she lived her entire life in the Donaldson settlement. She was a member of the Polo Lutheran church.

She is survived by her husband; four daughters, Miss Ina Poole and Mrs. Camilla Jones, both at home, Miss Irene Poole, Elmwood Park, Chicago; two sons, George Poole, Chicago Heights and Russell, at home; one sister, Mrs. John Bon. Polo, and three brothers, Clinton and Sam Geary, both of Polo and George Geary, Milledgeville.

103-Year-Old Retired Farmer Plans Garden

Metropolis, Ill., Feb. 5—(AP)—Illness forced George Herman to retire from farming last year but he says he plans to put out a five-acre patch of corn for his pigs and chickens this season.

Herman was 103 years old today. He said he was born on an Edwards county, Ill., farm on Feb. 5, 1840, and that his father lived to be 106 years old.

A GIFT From THE TINY TOT SHOP is a Gift of Distinction

Fair Enough by WESTBROOK PEGLER

Washington—To all American workers who have been robbed of any portion of their pay by any dirty union parasites as the price of admission to work on any government project but were not admitted to union membership.

Greetings:
If you will collect your receipts for the money surrendered under this evil shakedown, practiced mainly by construction unions of the American Federation of Labor and send them to Tom C. Clark, chief of the war frauds unit, Department of Justice, Washington, accompanied in each case by an explanatory letter, preferably brief, it may be your satisfaction to see such union vermin punished by large fines or sent to prison or both.

Wherever you worked, whether on a cantonment in Massachusetts, an air field in Texas, a shipyard in California or a pipeline across Illinois, if you were forced to pay graft to any such thieves under threats of dismissal, and provided you were not admitted to full membership in the local union, you have been robbed within the present meaning of the anti-kickback law and the penalty may be a fine as high as $10,000 and five years in prison.

Already, four such crooks have been caught in Albany, N. Y., and fined $10,000 each. They are the McGraws, Thomas F. and John, father and son, George J. Mann and Jacob Betar, officers of local 106 of the International Union of Operating Engineers, and intimate professional and social colleagues of Rum-Dum Joe Pay, an international vice president of this corrupt organization.

Their racket was to shake down American workers on the Voorheesville regulation station, a war project, for $2 a day. They extorted about $50,000 on this job alone between August, 1941, and February, 1942, were indicted in the U. S. district court last June and pleaded guilty to conspiracy under the anti-kickback. They did not even put up a contest.

Thereupon William E. Maloney, of Chicago, the international president of the racket, announced that they would be suspended from office in their local. If they were suspended, it certainly is mighty curious that the same Tom McGraw and the same Mann and James McDonald and Augustus Shock were indicted as late as last November 25 for operating a similar shakedown in the name of the same local on another government job in the same vicinity, known as the Scotia naval supply depot, from June to November last year.

In this time they are alleged to have extorted about $2,000 at the rate of $2.50 a week from 50 workers. This indictment has not yet been tried. If McGraw and Mann were suspended from office, they nevertheless continued to sell work permits in the name of the local on this other job and moreover, there are reports now under investigation that the workers in their jurisdiction have further shaken down for money to pay the four $100,000 fines assessed in the Voorheesville case. That, too, would be familiar union practice, as Justice Felix Frankfurter calls the accustomed outlavery of the predatory union.

There are several other such indictments pending, including one against some of the brothers of the common laborers' union, or shakedown, but for the present I will not go into them.

The anti-kickback law was dusted off by poor old Thurman Arnold of the anti-trust division after he had lost two contests in the Supreme court under the anti-trust and anti-racketeering laws. Poor old Thurman became the Joe Grimm of the Department of Justice. He was always on the floor, spitting out teeth and phoning home afterward to say, "I lose again, mamma."

Two years ago, Mathias Correa, the U. S. district attorney in the southern district of New York, told me the anti-kickback law wouldn't apply to kickbacks extorted by unionists, but Arnold got desperate and finally authorized Clark to see what he could do with it.

Up to now, we can't be positive that it will work because you know how this Supreme court stands on union racketeering since that opinion of Justice Byrnes vindicating highway robbery by unionists even though they had criminal records. We can't be positive, because the McGraws and Mann and Betar in the Albany case refused to carry the question to the Supreme court.

But so far everything is all right and if you have been robbed of your pay under the corrupt permit-system practiced by so many AFL unions, send your receipts to Clark with a letter explaining just what happened and he will turn the individual cases over to the FBI for verification.

Of course the Supreme court may decide that the anti-kickback thing doesn't apply to thievery of unionists, in which case you are still faceless saps in the eyes of your government.

But pals, up to now it certainly does look as though the dam has burst.

And please remember, send this stuff to Clark, not to me. I can't handle any more of it but I am interested in further information on the group insurance plan of the boiler-makers' union, with special emphasis on the experience of short-term workers, such as welders, in the shipyards. This one begins to smell very ripe.

Mickey Rooneys Can Not Reach Agreement

Hollywood, Feb. 5—(AP)—This time it's final with the Mickey Rooneys. They just can't agree. She's going to file that divorce suit she started last September and dropped the following month.

Mickey, the 22-year-old veteran who is the biggest box office draw in the show business, did not amplify a joint statement he signed with his 19-year-old bride, the former Ava Gardner of Wilson, N. C. They said:

"We are separating and giving up our home. We both sincerely regret that we could not work out our problems together."

Last fall she charged cruelty, and asked for an equitable division of $200,000 community property. They were married Jan. 10, 1942.

House Moves to End Purchases of Silver

Washington, Feb. 5—(AP)—A preliminary move to stop government purchase of silver—once conceded by its sponsors to be "only a gesture"—was approved tentatively today by the house on a vote of 166 to 103.

The action—subject to a roll call vote later—came on an amendment to the post office-treasury appropriations bill as its advocates demanded that the government's huge silver stock pile be made available for war uses.

The amendment offered by Rep. Celler (D-NY) would prevent use of any of the funds in the treasury appropriations "directly or indirectly" for the purchase of silver under the 1934 and 1939 silver purchasing acts.

Producers Holding Hogs on Farms to Make Them Fatter

Chicago, Feb. 5—(AP)—Continued heavy use of feed grains as reflected in official market reports indicated producers were holding hogs on the farm to fatten them up before shipping them to market, livestock men said today.

The trade has anticipated a peak in the marketing of the record 1942 pig crop for several weeks, but to date it has failed to materialize. The period of heaviest shipments normally occurs before the end of the year and is now two months overdue.

Yesterday's hog receipts at the 12 principal midwestern marketing centers aggregated only 48,200 head. The total on the same day a week earlier was 99,155 and a year ago it was 65,283.

The favorable corn-hog ratio apparently was a factor which influenced the withholding of hogs, traders said. The corn-hog ratio, which is the relationship between the price paid for 100 pounds of hogs and the cost of the amount of corn necessary to put that much weight on a live hog, was figured at 15.3 Jan. 3, 1943. A year ago the ratio was 13.9.

A report released by the bureau of agricultural economics said the disappearance of feed grains during the 1942-43 season would be 12 to 14 per cent greater than in the previous year. During the period from October to December last year, the report said, the disappearance of corn and oats was 16 per cent larger than in the corresponding quarter a year ago.

The disappearance of corn during the last quarter of 1942, including that used by industries, totaled 1,031,000,000 bushels—138,000,000 more than in the final quarter of 1941.

Ashton and Harmon Teams Play Dixon's Teams This Evening

Cage Tilts Prelude to Somonauk-Dixon Con- tests Tomorrow

By BILL EVANS
Tonight there will be two cage games in the local gymnasium. At 7 o'clock the Harrison quintet will play the strong freshman team in the preliminary game and the Dixon reserves will meet the strong Ashton varsity team in the nightcap. Coach Lundholm's freshman five have beaten Harmon twice so far this season and the Dixon reserves were defeated by Ashton in December. Although these games will be of no particular importance, they should be very exciting from start to finish.

In an out of town game the Dixon Dukes will play Geneseo in the Geneseo high school gymnasium. If Dixon wins the game at Geneseo Friday night, the Dukes will be one game closer to another North Central Illinois Conference championship.

Somonauk Saturday
On Saturday night the Dixon Dukes will be host to the undefeated Somonauk team. Somonauk has now won 21 straight games, their last victory being over Earlville early this week. Up to a few days ago Somonauk was rated as the No. 1 team in the state, but now is headed by Moline and Paris respectively.

The preliminary game will start at 7:30. In this contest Coach C. B. Lindell's sophomores will play the second team from Somonauk. The officials for the Dixon-Somonauk game will be Tracy and Spurgeon, both of Rockford, and not Cole and Boxsein as previously stated.

These two games Saturday night will be bang-up ball games and everybody should see them if it is possible for them to do so.

Cairo Citizens Are Now Sports-Minded

Cairo, Ill., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Citizens of this river town, located at the southern tip of Illinois, just above the juncture of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, are getting more interested in sports this winter.

The Cairo high school basketball team, winner of 11 consecutive games without a defeat, has attracted statewide attention, and the St. Louis Cardinals have selected Cairo for their spring training site.

After Friday's game at Thebes, the Cairo prep cagers will travel to Cape Girardeau, Mo., where the St. Louis Browns will stage their spring workouts, to meet the Cape Girardeau Central high school Tigers, ranked as a strong contender for the 1943 Missouri high school crown.

Although Cairo won't face its first Illinois state championship hurdle until the regional tournament opens at Anna March 3, the pilots gained new confidence after coasting through the Mound City invitational tournament last week and are considered the strongest club in their immediate area. Their closest victory was by 39-31 over Wickliffe, Ky.

California's Horse Racing Out for War

San Francisco, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Horse racing in California has been counted out by the war.

At the request of W. M. Jeffers, national rubber administrator, a 50-day meet scheduled to open Feb. 20 at Bay Meadows track will be cancelled.

The loss of one big big bomber costs about half a million dollars. It usually means the loss of nine lives and it costs $10,000 to train every airman.

She needs it now. She'll need it more later, for she didn't buy household furniture insurance and it's not comfortable to sleep on a pile of ashes. What are your fire insurance needs? Let us help you answer that question. No obligation on your part.

Michigan and Ohio State Will Seek to Stage Cage Upsets

Will Meet Hoosiers and Illini, Respectively, Saturday, Monday

Chicago, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Ohio State and Michigan, already with a couple of upsets under their belts and eager for more, get their chances Saturday and Monday against the Big Ten basketball leaders, Illinois and Indiana.

The Buckeyes, with Freddie Miller the only veteran in the starting lineup, have beaten Chicago and Purdue in five conference starts this season. Their best non-conference victory was a surprising 45-40 decision over Kentucky, which ended Notre Dame's winning streak two weeks ago.

Illinois, cruising along with five Big Ten wins, will be strengthened in reserve guard material by Cliff Fulton, who became available with the new semester. The 6-foot-2-inch player is considered a consistent all-around, hard-driving cager and a fair shot.

The games will be played on a new floor at the Columbus Civic Auditorium instead of the pair-grooved coliseum.

Wolverines Seek Revenge

Michigan, undefeated in six non-conference games but beaten three times by Big Ten teams, will be out to make amends for a 64-36 drubbing last season when it squares off against Indiana at Bloomington. That was the worst defeat ever suffered by a Michigan quintet.

The Wolverines' only Big Ten victory this year was a 38-34 upset of Wisconsin, accomplished by holding Johnny Kotz to seven markers. But the next night the Badgers poured it on, 55-34, the most points scored against Michigan this season.

The Hoosiers' ace, Ralph Hamilton, will find Michigan a tough defensive club, and interest will center on how far he can go in adding to his scoring output, which has reached 98 points in six games.

Branch McCracken, Indiana coach, is not willing to say that this season's team is better than the 1940 club which won the NCAA championship.

Hoosiers' Condition Good

"We have good balance, some good rebound men, some good shooters and some outstanding passers," he conceded. "Perhaps the most important thing has been the fine physical condition of all the boys on the squad. We can do quite a bit of substituting without getting hurt too much."

Minnesota, which Chicago defeated Feb. 19, 1940, for its last Big Ten victory, will be guarding against another such outburst Saturday on the Maroon's home floor. The Gophers, paced by a trio of sharpshooting sophomores, will be seeking their fourth win in seven conference games, while Chicago will be trying to break its long losing streak.

The only other conference meeting Saturday puts Northwestern—battered 68-51 by Illinois Monday—against Purdue in Chicago Stadium. Camp Grant, which has lost only once in 22 contests, will oppose DePaul in the nightcap of the doubleheader.

Two non-conference engagements send Great Lakes to Wisconsin and Knox to Iowa.

Connie Mack Will Be Honored This Evening

Philadelphia, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Baseball magnates, managers, players and just plain bleacher rooters join hands tonight to pay homage to the most beloved figure of the national pastime—tail, lean Connie Mack of the Athletics.

The get-together is in honor of Mack's 80th birthday. He actually was 80 last December 23, but the arrangements committee decided to postpone the testimonial dinner because of transportation difficulties during the Christmas holiday season.

Celebrities from all walks of life will be in the crowd of 900 expected to attend. The evening's highlight is expected to be Mack's speech. Last week at the Philadelphia sporting writers dinner he said "it has been circulated around it will be an old man's league this season, but I want to say I am opposed to playing old men. I believe the clubs will be looking for youngsters."

Robinson Will Try for No. 130 Tonight
Detroit, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Backed by right fans who believed strongly in the local-boy-makes-good idea, unbeaten Ray (Sugar) Robinson is a 5 to 2 choice to extend his fistic winning streak to 130 bouts in a ten-round match tonight against Jake La Motta before a sellout crowd of 16,000 at Olympia Stadium.

Robinson appeared likely to cut himself a heaping $14,000 portion of the $50,000 gate in the effort to make it two in a row over La Motta, whom he outpointed in New York last fall.

Robinson was obscure Walker Smith, a Detroit newsboy, before he went to New York.

"World's Tallest"

Basketball Team

at Valparaiso U.

Valparaiso, Ind., Feb. 5.—(AP)

West Texas State, long a claimant of the "world's tallest team" title, will have to move over and make room in the clouds this season for Valparaiso University's quintet.

The team, consisting of four freshmen and a sophomore, averages 6-feet-6-inches and is buoyed up considerably by the Warnke brothers, Don and Wallace, of Michigan City, Ind. They have to stoop to get their 6-foot-10-inch frames under the rafters.

Tutored by Loren Ellis, just two years out of the high school coaching ranks (he was at Michigan City), the Crusaders have won 12 of their 16 games with a 59½ average.

Become Adjusted

Lately, however, the tall boys become adjusted to spectators in the gallery virtually yelling in their ears and have boosted the scoring to an average of 75 points in the last five contests.

Dwarfed by the two Warnke brothers is Ted Dean, 6-foot-2-inch freshman of Hammond, Ind. But he has worked out an effective system, whereby the Warnke lads snatch the ball in the ozone and drop it down to him to shoot. He's notched 105 points in the last five games.

Ellis has to re-build after the first semester. Nine of his 16 boys either graduated, enlisted in the armed forces or were ineligible.

Collapse of Force

new wedges around Kursk while behind them the battle to annihilate the remainder of nine enemy divisions trapped west of Voronezh had taken a week-long toll of 17,000 killed and 27,000 captured, it was announced.

This brought to 100,000 the number of Germans and their axis satellites killed and captured in that sector since Jan. 13, the Russians said.

(The Russian midday communiqué as recorded in London said the Reds army advance continued in the night's fighting south of Rostov, another town being captured on the distant approaches to the city.

(East of Kursk, the Russians announced another 1,485 enemy men and officers, along with their equipment, were captured in two days of fighting, and a number of towns were taken in another sector of that front at the north end of the line.

(In the Krasny-Liman area, the Russians said, the Germans threw two companies of infantry reserves, tanks, and planes against Red army columns thrusting deep into the Ukraine to flank Kharkov and Voroshilovgrad.

(The Red army's air force also went into battle there and the engagement resulted, they said, in the utter routing of the axis infantry.

Nazi Losses Over Million
(An informed source in London said last night that Germany and her companions in the Russian war had lost more than 1,000,000 men since last Nov. 19, when the Russians began their winter offensive.)

One Russian army was only 22 miles north of Kursk at Zolotukhine and the announced capture of Shchigry, 33 miles east, and Tin, 42 miles southwest, put two more Red Army pincers within reach of Kursk.

In the center of the battlefield, the Russians said they had killed 1,400 of the enemy in mopping-up around Kupiansk and had straightened the line with the capture of Dvurechnaya and Borovaya, thus pushing a wider front toward Kharkov, ancient capital of the Ukraine and a major industrial center.

Annihilation Threatened
It was in the Caucasus, however, that the threat of annihilation hovered heaviest over a major axis army.

Swift thrusts had carried the Russians, they said in communiqués, to Starominskaya and Kaniyskaya, moves which cut every rail line and road along which perhaps 200,000 Germans might have retreated into Rostov to join the estimated quarter of a million entrenched behind vast defenses there.

Only an escape by sea—over the Black Sea through Novorossisk, over the Taman peninsula across the 7-mile wide Kerch Strait into the Crimea, or over the Sea of Azov—was left these forces and Russian Black sea units were reported ready to deal a light of

While authoritative comment remained almost negligible, the rising tempo of allied aerial blows touched off speculation that United Nations offensive might be imminent against Jap strongholds in the central and northern Solomons.

For days past, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters has reported incessant and increasingly violent allied air attacks on enemy bases stretching across hundreds of miles of the South Seas archipelago and adjoining islands.

These could serve either as "softening up" assaults paving the way for an allied sea-borne offensive or as defensive smashes to cripple the sources of enemy supply.

Attack 3 Solid Hours

In today's communiqué, Gen. MacArthur reported that United Nations airmen unloaded bombs for three solid hours on the Japanese airdrome at Buin, 300 miles northwest of Guadalcanal, and spread destruction from one end of New Britain island to the other.

In ground fighting, allied troops continued to press Japanese forces southwest of Salamaua, killing 88 of the enemy in attacks near Wau.

Other Far Pacific developments: Burma Front—Field Marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell's British

Imperial, driving back into Burma from India, were reported locked in fierce battle with Japanese forces on the Mayu peninsula along the Bay of Bengal.

Frontline dispatches said the British beat off two savage Japanese counterattacks in the Don-daik sector yesterday, inflicting heavy losses, and were putting strong pressure on the enemy.

Gen. Wavell's troops, fighting against strongly-entrenched Japanese along the beaches and coastal swamps, have penetrated to within about 25 miles of the enemy base at Akyab, at the near-east point.

In the skies, American-made Liberator bombers of the RAF rained 1,000-pound explosives on Rangoon, and other RAF planes attacked Japanese positions at Rathaung and bombed the enemy airdrome at Magwe.

FROM GUADALCANAL

by William Hippie

With Advanced U. S. Troops on Guadalcanal, Feb. 1—(Delayed)—(AP)—American troops, advancing toward the main Japanese concentrations at Cape Esperance, today ran into the heaviest enemy resistance they have encountered since the beginning of their sweeping drive along the northern coast of Guadalcanal.

We were strafed at the front by enemy planes. We saw a United States destroyer a mile off shore throw shells into Japanese positions for an hour.

Across the channel, near Savo island, we watched Japanese dive bombers attack one of our destroyers.

We saw Jap bombers shot down by American fighters. American artillery fire whirled over our heads and exploded with terrificity, noise and concussion just ahead of us. Japanese machine guns and mortars fired away spasmodically, trying to reach us.

To top it off, Jap snipers pinged at us from trees in surrounding slopes and kept everybody on edge and stepping lively.

Jap forces, after being routed and under retreat for 10 days, today made a stand at Bongei river, about four miles along the coast northwest of Kokumbona.

When our advancing troops found this strong nest of Japanese, they were ordered to withdraw a short distance to allow United States artillery to pound the enemy.

A thundering artillery barrage was kept up for hours.

Father, Son Killed in Plane Collision

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 5—(AP)—A father and son completed their day's work at Consolidated Aircraft Corporation's plant yesterday and went out for brief flights in separate planes at dusk. Fifteen minutes later they collided over the desert and crashed to their deaths.

The father, James H. Nickerson, 46, was manager of Consolidated's plant here, and the son, Harold Gene Nickerson, 21, was an assistant plant foreman.

The elder Nickerson was flying his own plane. Harold had rented one from a flight instructor. They crashed to earth about 300 feet apart, plummeting from a low altitude.

Georgia House Passes

Law Requiring Horse Meat Be So Labelled

Atlanta, Feb. 5—(AP)—The Georgia house of representatives has approved a bill requiring that horse and dog meat sold in the state be labelled "not for human consumption".

The approval came yesterday over a vehement protest that the house was handing to the axis nations "some powerful propaganda material".

"Right now they are shipping horse and dog meat into Georgia and using it in wieners, sausage and hamburger and I want to stop it," declared Rep. George W. Woodruff. He added that "wild horses from the west are being slaughtered in great numbers and shipped to us".

Rep. George Nicholson warned that "if you pass this bill you will be giving Germany, Italy and Japan some powerful propaganda. They will hear of this, re-word it and tell their people we are eating dog meat, thus bolstering their home morale".

"Eat a dog, man's best friend?" shouted Rep. C. T. Guyton. "Why the idea! Eat a horse, the faithful animal that makes the living for the farmer? We would be sinking low in the scale of civilization".

SENEGAL OFFERED BY WES GALLAGHER

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Feb. 5—(AP)—Governor General Pierre Boisson declared today that French West Africa was ready to furnish the allies 100,000 trained Senegalese troops and a reserve of 200,000 more if equipment and leadership were provided.

"I have offered General Giraud 100,000 troops for immediate use and will provide 200,000 more if equipment and officers are provided to lead them", Boisson said at a press conference.

He said the reserve had "some military training, but was short on white officers".

Asked if the abortive British-Fighting French attack upon Dakar in 1940 was still a sore point in West Africa in view of the liaison agreement between General Charles De Gaulle and General Giraud, Boisson smiled grimly.

"It is difficult to say," he responded. "Some feel strongly. Some do not. But it does not make any difference, because West Africa is well disciplined".

The governor general added that "the union of all French necessary to beat the Germans and what is necessary to beat the Germans will be done".

Asked if De Gaulle officers would be acceptable to lead the Senegalese reserve troops, he replied: "That is a question for General Giraud to answer".

ALLIED FORCES JOINED

With U. S. Forces in Southern Tunisia, Jan. 30—(Delayed)—(AP)—The vanguard of the British Eighth Army—three French burned and bewhiskered desert raiders—reached this outpost of United States and French troops in southern Tunisia today in the first junction of allied forces converging from east and west.

French officers gaped in astonishment when a French lieutenant brought the weary and footsore men into headquarters and announced:

"These gentlemen from the British Eighth Army have come from Gables Gap to see you". Questioning disclosed that they were members of a long-range desert patrol which had been traveling in American-made peeps, boldly raiding deep in axis territory for more than two months.

They brought their activity to a climax by penetrating 10 miles north of Gables, more than 150 miles ahead of the rear elements of Field Marshal Rommel's retreating army, before they were ambushed by a German patrol.

They abandoned their peeps to flee afoot, evaded the enemy, escaped a band of hostile Arabs who attempted to beat and rob them and nights to reach friendly lines. The men are Lieut. Willie Michael Sadler, 22, and Sergt. John Cooper, 20, both from England; and Sergt. A. F. Taxis, a Frenchman.

In Daring Raids
With other members of the desert patrol they had set out in 12 peeps to disrupt axis communications and instill constant fear in the Germans and Italians by daring raids from the desert.

They told how once they drove boldly onto a tripolitanian coastal highway, they cut into the middle of an axis motor convoy, shot up 38 trucks with their machine-guns and then faded back into the desert.

"Some of it was a lot of fun", Lieut. Sadler said. "For example, we saw Christmas Day popping the Germans' own land mines into holes the Germans themselves had dug to receive the mines after their own forces had withdrawn. They got some good surprise".

"We had a lot of fun one night driving on a road in the opposite direction to a motor convoy. We'd blink our lights and then open up machine-gun fire when the trucks blinked back at us".

Wrapped in a blanket after he had had some sleep and been questioned by U. S. intelligence officers, Cooper was asked if he needed more rest.

His reply was adequate for the admiring American troops who had listened to the trio's tales of desert warfare:

"Oh, I've only been going at this two months. Some of the chaps have been out since August".

fied guerrillas or the tide of Chinese baser than regulars again floods the countryside. None of these actions appears to have touched China in a vulnerable spot. As far as military operations go Japan has made no major gains against China since Pearl Harbor except the conquest of Burma and closing of the Burma Road. But it was not the Chinese army that lost Burma. And the Chinese continue to keep a large part of Japan's forces, perhaps 750,000 men, fully occupied.

But while General Chiang's fighters seem to be doing all right there is an increasing evidence of strain on the home front. The pressure of the Japanese blockade, which has been effective in varying degrees since the capture of Canton more than four years ago, is ever more keenly felt. There is tragic famine in Honan and food shortage elsewhere. Drastic inflation bears heavily on the people. The war drags on interminably, now in the latter half of its sixth year, and so many times has hope been deferred.

It would be strange therefore if there were not discontent among the Chinese people, probably the world's most patient.

Rationing Program

directed to:

1. Place workers in jobs which "will utilize their skills most effectively in the war effort".

2. "Accord priority to employers engaged in essential activities, in the order of the urgency of their activities x x x".

3. Put workers in jobs "on the basis of their qualifications and without discrimination as to race, color, creed, sect, national origin or, except as required by law, citizenship".

Excluded from the requirement that all hiring in shortage areas be done under WMC supervision were:

1. Small establishments, which "in general" were defined as non-manufacturing establishments employing less than 25 persons and manufacturing firms employing less than eight.

2. Employment of domestic servants or "casual" (temporary) employees.

3. State, county or local governments, unless they "voluntarily request" that they be put under WMC regulations.

May Use Prisoners

Meanwhile J. A. Walker, chief of the labor branch of the food production administration, disclosed that the government was considering using nazi prisoners captured in Africa and Europe to fill agricultural labor shortages.

"Such prisoners would have to be used, he said, where they could work in large groups so that they could be guarded efficiently. Their use would be limited largely to cultivating and harvesting commercial vegetables, canning and fruit crops.

Walker told newsmen that some farmers have expressed reluctance to plant more because of a fear that they would be unable to cultivate and harvest additional crops.

"I have every confidence", Walker said, "that we will be able to meet the labor demands".

To meet the need for full-time workers, the government plans, he said, to recruit 50,000 low-income and under-productive families in the marginal areas of the Appalachian and Ozark mountains and the cut-over timber areas of Minnesota and Wisconsin for placement on highly-productive dairy, livestock and poultry farms of the middle-west and elsewhere.

The seasonal labor shortage, by far the worst, will be attacked by several methods. Besides the possible use of war prisoners, the government hopes to recruit at least 275,000 migratory farm workers and other unemployed persons, and to import 60,000 workers from Mexico and other Latin-American countries.

In addition, the government plans to enlist possibly 3,000,000 town and city residents for short-term seasonal harvesting operations.

Arrangements were completed for setting up of a central office at the Chamber of Commerce where volunteers may register for farm service and farmers can list their labor needs. They'll Do It Every Time

Washington

By Peter Edson
Telegraph Special Service

War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt came through three mornings of inquisition on Capitol Hill, but that ain't all. Investigations of manpower policy by the Senate Appropriations, Military Affairs, and Truman Special War Committees are just a beginning of the shooting. From now on it is open season on the most controversial of war problems. One other Senate committee and no telling how many House committees want to investigate Manpower shortages, threatening to paralyze the issue under a six-inch snowfall of testimony.

From all this welter of words, Commissioner McNutt seems to emerge unruffled and immaculate. The hearings on the hill, he says, have all been conducted in the most friendly manner. Butting up the congressmen, the commissioner declares they are all simply trying to get at the truth of the situation.

Butting-up their boss, McNutt's aides say he knows so much more about manpower than most of his critics, that when he explains the situation as he sees it there isn't anything left to say.

The fact that Senator Truman's War Investigation Committee called off its plans for a full dress hearing on manpower after listening to McNutt outline his views is pointed to as evidence in support of this flattering idea.

What Mr. McNutt himself thinks about this is best summed up in his own words:

"Everyone is looking at Manpower selfishly," he says. "I am the only one trying to look at the whole picture."

From that you gather that Agriculture is selfish, that the Army and Navy are selfish, that every interest wanting more manpower is looking out for itself, not for the needs of the country as a whole. McNutt sees it as his job to reconcile all the conflicting demands.

Too Big an Army

McNutt leans to the view that the armed services are asking for too much on what is purely an emotional basis of just wanting a big army for its own sake. The limiting factor should be, according to McNutt, not the size of an army that can be raised but the size of an army that can be transported overseas.

What happens if any of those expeditionary forces suffer such losses that they have to be entirely replaced, or what happens if those expeditionary forces are defeated and the United States has to fight a defensive war at home is apparently considered not worth bothering about. Also overlooked is the possible need for large armies of occupation after the war. McNutt believes that the Army has given him full information on its plans, though it has not told him what or where the forces are to be used.

As for farm labor demand, McNutt has simply handed that problem over to the Department of Agriculture and from here on it is presumably Secretary of Agriculture Wickard's worry. The Department of Agriculture is supposed to know what its problems are and where they are, and should therefore know how to meet them. The other McNutt contribution was an order to Selective Service boards instructing them not to draft so many essential farm workers.

This genius of McNutt's for handing problems over to others is supposedly one of his attributes that contributes much to his reputation as an administrator. But perhaps some of the reasons why so many committees want to investigate manpower is that they find it difficult to locate any clear-cut statement of manpower policy.

He Isn't Worried

This does not seem to worry Commissioner McNutt in the least. He is going right ahead, he says. That's all that can be done under voluntary controls now in effect, and McNutt feels that Congress and the country are not yet ready for legislation putting in compulsory controls. In other words, there's nothing like a labor draft proposal in the works. More money will be needed for handling the farm labor recruiting and for the Manpower Commission's own U. S. Employment Service.

For the rest, the manpower supply job will be left largely to the point-labor-management stabilization committees set up on local and regional bases. In the 317 war production labor markets of the country, stabilization committees will be functioning in 100 by the end of February, and it will apparently be pretty largely up to these local committees to weal their own woes.

The peak in the demand for manpower will come at the height of the harvest season this fall, when an estimated 65 million workers will have to be in the labor force. That's exactly half the population, and it means that every other man, woman and child in the country will have to be gainfully employed. If the McNutt setup, going right ahead on its present line, can skate through that crisis, all will be well for 1943. McNutt refuses to guess about 1944.

OFFICER, CALL A COP!

New York (AP)—One of the numerous shady characters whose occupation is sliding up to passersby and whispering "Wanna buy a stolen silver fox?" got a rude reception from one prospective customer—who turned out to be Max Marcin, author of the "Crime Doctor" radio series which preaches the theme that crime doesn't pay.

Today on the Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington — (AP) — These things you can count on, so far as your income tax is concerned:

1. You'll have to pay more this year than ever before.

2. You'll have to file by March 15 a return showing what your 1942 income was.

3. Unless congress takes some action quickly (and congress usually deliberates quite a while on tax matters) you'll have to make your March 15 quarterly payment — and probably the June 15 installment — on the basis of the increased rates voted by congress last year.

4. If congress does make a change later, any money you pay on or before March 15 will apply on what you owe. So, the treasury and congressional leaders say, you won't lose by paying on that basis now.

One other thing seems fairly certain:

After July 1, undoubtedly some portion of your paycheck will be deducted to provide at least part of your payments on the tax for 1943. President Roosevelt, the treasury and a good many congressmen are on record in favor of a pay-as-you-go principle.

If you keep these things in mind, the tax experts say, you won't be apt to be lulled by day-dreams that you'll get out of paying increased taxes this year and for years to come.

The main point of argument in the whole question of bringing tax-payers up-to-date on their obligations to Uncle Sam is how to get the pay-as-you-earn system started.

If a change-over is to be accomplished this year—and entirely within this year—some adjustment will have to be made if the taxpayer is to escape paying two years' taxes in one year.

The treasury objects to "wind-falls" which it says big taxpayers would get under the so-called Ruml plan, which would skip the 1942 tax liability and apply the taxes paid this year against what's due on 1943 income.

But the treasury acknowledges that most people can't pay two years' taxes this year.

That brings us to:

Other ideas for the change-over:

Turning the calendar back and applying 1941 tax rates to 1942 income. The treasury says it has considered this (without expressing approval or opposition).

This is a sort of half-and-half idea: You'd pay 1½ years' taxes this year, and 1½ years' taxes next year. After that you'd be strictly on pay-as-you-earn.

2. "Forgiving" part of the taxes on 1942 income.

The treasury has indicated a willingness to go along with "forgiveness" of part of the liability for taxes on last year's income, if congress wants it that way.

Usually well-informed Capital Hill sources express belief the treasury would agree to skipping the normal 6 per cent and first 13 per cent surtax bracket of 1942 for all taxpayers.

The treasury suggests:

1. Collection of the 6 per cent normal tax and 13 per cent first surtax bracket at the source. Allowance for exemptions would be figured, so that there wouldn't be a lot of over-payments of tax and therefore a flock of refunds at tax-adjustment time the following year. For example, a man making $60 a week would pay $6.46 a week if married and with no dependents; $4.94 if single and one dependent; $9.31 if single and two dependents. The whole tax is collected under present law—in the following year.

Closing thought: Congress may raise the rates again, too.
